Q: Change column names after concatenation I have a set of data that I'm importing from a Microsoft Access database using the Microsoft Access Database Engine OLEDB provider. This all works fine, but the database does not provide a standard column name. Instead, it provides something like 'Name', 'Title', 'First name', etc. This makes it difficult to use PowerPivot. Is there a way I can modify the table's column names after concatenation? Something like this SELECT TOP 100 PERCENT 'Name' + 'Title' + 'First name' + 'Surname' + 'Suffix' + 'Country' FROM mytable A: Although I cannot confirm this is the only way to do it, if you can specify the column names in the query, you can concatenate them yourself. SELECT 'Name' + 'Title' + 'First name' + 'Surname' + 'Suffix' + 'Country' FROM mytable Movistar Next Generation(TM) Smart TV Box With Magicremote The MXNG box with Magicremote The prototype of the Movistar Next Generation(TM) Smart TV Box with Magicremote has been built.
